4. This Act, with the exception of sections 5, 13–22, 60, 64, 65 and 67, Chapters 8 and 9 and section 88, applies to the foundation universities.

Section 2. Mission

1. The mission of the universities is to promote independent academic research as well as academic and artistic education, to provide research-based higher education and to educate students to serve their country and humanity at large. In carrying out their mission, the universities shall promote lifelong learning, interact with the surrounding society and promote the social impact of university research findings and artistic activities.
2. The universities shall arrange their activities so as to ensure a high international standard in research, artistic activities, education and tuition in conformity with research integrity.

Section 3. Autonomy

1. The universities have autonomy, through which they safeguard scientific, artistic and higher education freedom. The autonomy entails the right of universities to make their own decisions in matters related to their internal administration.

2. When legislation is drafted concerning them, the universities shall be given the opportunity to express their opinion on the matter.

Section 4. Membership in the university community

The university community comprises teaching and research staff, other staff and students.

Section 5. Legal capacity of public universities

1. The public universities are independent legal persons.

2. The public universities may undertake commitments, obtain rights in their own name and possess movable and immovable property. The universities may pursue business activities which support the performance of the mission referred to in section 2.

3. The public universities are liable for their commitments with their own funds and are entitled to pursue and defend litigation in court.

Chapter 2. Research and teaching

Section 6. Freedom of research, art and teaching

1. While universities enjoy freedom of research, art and teaching, teachers must comply with the statutes and regulations issued on education and teaching arrangements.

2. Teaching in the universities is public. Where justified, participation in instruction may be restricted.

Section 7. Degrees, other studies and range of degrees

1. Universities award Bachelor’s and Master’s degrees and academic, artistic and third-cycle postgraduate degrees. Universities may also provide professional specialisation programmes, degree modules as open university education or as other non-degree studies, and continuing professional education. (Amendment 1172/2014)

2. The Master’s degree is taken after completing a Bachelor’s degree or equivalent studies. In fields issued by government decree, education leading to the Master’s degree may be organised without the requirement of a previously completed Bachelor’s degree, where appropriate in terms of the professional demands of the field. The academic, artistic or professionally-oriented postgraduate degree is taken after completing a Master’s degree or equivalent studies.
3. Further provisions on the degrees awarded by the universities, the objectives of the degrees, the structure of studies, other study requirements and the degrees conferred by each university (educational responsibility) are issued by government decree. Provisions on the status of university degrees within the system of higher education are also issued by government decree, whereas provisions that more explicitly distribute the educational responsibilities among the universities are issued by decree of the Ministry of Education and Culture in collaboration with the universities. (Amendment 1172/2014)

Section 7a. Tuition in languages and communication (Amendment 562/2016)

1. Universities may arrange tuition in languages and communication in cooperation with another university or university of applied sciences or procure it from one of these institutions. To meet their educational responsibility, universities are not obliged to provide such tuition themselves.

2. Students participating in such tuition by virtue of subsection 1 or by virtue of section 8a(1) of the Act on Universities of Applied Sciences (932/2014) have a restricted right to study, in the institution of higher education where the tuition is being provided but where the student does not have the right to complete degree studies.

Section 7b. Professional specialisation programmes (Amendment 562/2016)

1. Professional specialisation programmes offered by universities are studies intended to be completed after a higher education degree and designed for degree holders in order to promote their professional development and specialisation. They are intended to generate competence in areas of expertise for which no market-based provision of education is available.

2. Provisions on the joint objectives and minimum scope of professional specialisation programmes are issued by government decree. Studies offered by a university in the form of business activities under section 5(2) are not provided as professional specialisation programmes.

3. Only studies for which the study requirements have been agreed upon in inter-university cooperation can be provided as professional specialisation programmes. Cooperation with representatives of business and industry must be carried out during the agreement procedure. Further provisions on agreements on professional specialisation programmes, the content of the agreements and the provision of the programmes are issued by government decree.

4. A public register is maintained of agreements on professional specialisation programmes. Further provisions on the public register and information to be included in it are issued by government decree.

Section 8. Tuition free of charge and charges related to other activities (Amendment 414/2016)

1. Studies leading to a university degree and entrance examinations relating to student admissions are free of charge for the student unless otherwise provided in this Act. Tuition given free of charge does not prevent universities from offering joint and double degree programmes for which foreign institutions of higher education charge fees for their part of the programme.
2. A person applying to education other than that given in Finnish or Swedish may be required to take a fee-charging international test.

3. For activities other than those referred to in subsection 1 the university may charge fees. Further provisions on fees chargeable under public law are issued by government decree in conformity with the provisions on the cost price of transactions under public law in the Act on Criteria for Charges Payable to the State (150/1992). If the fee chargeable under public law to a student as referred to in this Act has not been paid by the due date, it is possible to collect annual interest for late payment from the due date onwards in accordance with the provisions of the Interest Act (633/1982). The payment may be recovered directly by an enforcement order as provided in the Act on the Enforcement of Taxes and Charges (706/2007).

Section 9. Commissioned education (Amendment 1600/2015)

1. A university may arrange degree studies which are geared to a group of students and which have been commissioned and paid for by the Finnish state, another state, an international organisation, a Finnish or foreign public corporation, a foundation or a private corporation (commissioned education).

2. Commissioned education may not be arranged for citizens of states belonging to the European Economic Area or for persons or their family members who are deemed comparable to European Union citizens under European Union treaties or under a treaty concluded by the European Union and its Member States with another contracting party. Nor may commissioned education be arranged for persons who, under the Aliens Act (301/2004), have a European Union Blue Card, a continuous or a permanent residence permit or a long-term resident's European Union residence permit issued to third-country nationals, nor for any family members of the above. The Aliens Act is applied in the definition of persons regarded as family members. Persons participating in commissioned education are governed by sections 37, 37a, 37b, 43a–43d, 45, 45a, 45b and 82, 83, 83a, 84, 84a, 85 and 86 of this Act.

3. Tuition provided in the form of commissioned education must relate to undergraduate or postgraduate education in which the university has the right to confer degrees. The arrangement of commissioned education may not undermine the undergraduate and postgraduate education provided by the university. The university must charge a fee for commissioned education covering at least the costs incurring from it. The party who commissions the education is entitled to charge participating students fees in accordance with the legal provisions or other practices in the country where the education is offered.

Section 10. Fee-charging degree programmes (Amendment 1600/2015)

1. Universities must charge a minimum tuition fee of EUR 1,500 per academic year for students admitted to a Bachelor's or Master's degree programme taught in a language other than Finnish or Swedish. Decisions on how the tuition fees are collected are made by the universities.

2. However, tuition fees are not charged for citizens of states belonging to the European Economic Area or for persons or their family members who are deemed comparable to European Union citizens under European Union treaties or under a treaty concluded by the European Union and its Member States with another contracting party. Fees are not charged for persons who, under the Aliens Act, have a European Union Blue Card, a continuous or a permanent residence permit or a long-term resident’s European Union residence permit issued to third-country nationals nor for any family members of the above. The Aliens Act is applied in the definition of persons regarded as family members. These fees do not apply to students taking part in commissioned education referred to in section 9.

3. Universities shall have a scholarship system to aid students participating in fee-charging degree programmes.

Section 11. Languages of instruction and degrees

1. The languages used for instruction and degrees at the University of Helsinki and the University of the Arts Helsinki are Finnish and Swedish. The languages used for instruction and degrees at Aalto University are governed by the provisions on the languages used for instruction and degrees of its constituent Schools in section 9 of the Universities Act of 1997 (645/1997). The language used for instruction and degrees at Åbo Akademi University, Hanken School of Economics, and the Swedish School of Social Science of the University of Helsinki is Swedish. The language used for instruction and degrees at the other universities is Finnish. (Amendment 414/2012)

2. In addition, the universities may decide to use a language other than that referred to in subsection 1 as a language used for instruction and degrees.

Section 12. Education of persons proficient in Swedish (Amendment 414/2012)

Åbo Akademi University, Hanken School of Economics, the University of Helsinki, the University of the Arts Helsinki and Aalto University are responsible for educating a sufficient number of persons proficient in Swedish for the needs of the country.

The total number of members on the multi-member administrative body is specified in the university rules of procedure. The members of the administrative body are elected by the relevant university community group as specified in the university rules of procedure.

Section 29. Decision-making by multi-member administrative body

1. The multi-member administrative body decides matters by majority vote. Where the votes equally distributed in a vote on a disciplinary matter concerning a student, the decision shall be made on the side of greater leniency.

2. With the exception of the University of the Arts Helsinki, a study attainment may be assessed only by those members or deputy members who have a degree or completed study attainments of an equivalent level or who have been appointed professors.
(Amendment 414/2012)

companies belonging to a university group referred to in section 63 of the present Act only in matters where the interests of the university and the affiliated company are in conflict or where fair handling of the matter so requires.

2. The confidentiality of the activities pursued by the university and the student union are governed by the provisions of section 4(1) of the Act on the Openness of Government Activities (621/1999) concerning the confidentiality of the activities of authorities.

Chapter 4. Staff and the language of administration

Section 31. University staff

Universities employ professors and other teaching and research staff, as well as other staff to perform other tasks. Further provisions on the qualification requirements of staff and the procedures for recruitment are specified in the university rules of procedure.

Section 32. Staff employment relations

1. The employment relationship of the university staff is based on a contract of employment.
2. The employees and the terms of the employment relationships are governed by relevant statutes and terms agreed in a collective agreement and in the contract of employment.

3. The employer may not act in the employment relationship in a manner which may endanger the freedom of research, art or education referred to in section 6. In addition to the provisions in Chapter 7 of the Employment Contracts Act (55/2001) on the termination of employment contracts as well as in Chapter 8 on the cancellation of employment contracts, the employment contract of an employee belonging to the research and teaching staff of a university may not be terminated or cancelled on grounds that could be invoked and infringe on the freedom of research, art or education.

Section 33. Duties, appointment and title of professor

1. A professor shall carry out and oversee scientific or artistic work, provide research-based tuition, follow developments in science or art, and participate in societal interaction and international cooperation in his or her field.

2. Professorship duties must be publicly announced vacant when recruiting a person for an employment relationship that is effect until further notice. The professorship may be filled by invitation without public notice of vacancy when an academically distinguished person is being invited to take the position or a candidate is appointed to the position for a fixed period. Only a candidate who indisputably fulfils the qualification requirements may be appointed to the position by invitation.

3. Statements on the qualifications and merits of applicants or invitees to a position must be requested from a minimum of two assessors for an appointment that is in effect until further notice or for a fixed period of at least two years. The disqualification of an assessor is governed by the provisions in sections 27–29 of the Administrative Procedure Act. Provisions on the selection, activities and remit of assessors are specified in the university rules of procedure, where needed.

4. A university may award the right to use the title of professor to a person in its employ.

Section 34. Liability under criminal law

The criminal liability of university staff and members of university administrative bodies is governed by Chapter 40 of the Penal Code (39/1889).

Section 35. Language proficiency requirements and administrative language

2. The language of administration in universities is Finnish, except for Åbo Akademi University, Hanken School of Economics and the Swedish School of Social Science of the University of Helsinki, where the administrative language is Swedish.

3. Everyone has the right to use either Finnish or Swedish in matters concerning them and to obtain official documents in the language they use.
Chapter 5. Students

Section 36. Admissions (Amendment 256/2015)

1. New students are admitted by the universities, where they may pursue either a Bachelor's or a Master's degree, or both, or a postgraduate degree or professional specialisation programme studies.

2. Universities admit transfer students. A transfer student refers to a student whose right to study is transferred from one higher education institution to another or within a single higher education institution from one degree programme to another.

3. Universities decide the admissions criteria. In the application process, applicants may be divided into separate applicant categories on the basis of their different educational backgrounds. The admissions criteria applied must be consistent for all applicants belonging to the same category. For the purpose of meeting the educational needs of a given language group, exceptions to consistent admissions criteria may be made to a limited extent.

Section 36a. Joint application procedure and separate admissions (Amendment 256/2015)

1. With the exception of studies leading to a postgraduate degree, admissions for education leading to a degree are organised in an application procedure carried out jointly between higher education institutions.

2. A university may opt for separate admissions instead of the joint application procedure when admitting:
   (1) students for programmes designed for a limited target group, where the eligibility of applicants has been defined separately by the university and where the application process for the programmes cannot be organised within the timeframe of the joint application procedure;
   (2) students for programmes provided in a foreign language;
   (3) students for programmes provided in Finnish or Swedish leading exclusively to a Master's degree, the application process for which is organised in connection with the application process for the equivalent foreign-language programme;
   (4) transfer students;
   (5) students on the basis of studies completed in open higher education.

3. The student admissions register referred to in the Act on the student admissions register, the national data warehouse for higher education and the matriculation examination register (1058/1998) is used in the joint application procedure. Further provisions on the implementation of the joint application procedure and processes associated with it are issued by government decree.

Section 36b. Reserving a student place (Amendment 256/2015)
1. In the joint application procedure, a university must reserve some student places for applicants who have not previously completed a higher education degree in accordance with the Finnish education system and have not accepted a student place leading to a higher education degree or who have accepted a student place for studies beginning in spring term 2014 or earlier but have not completed a higher education degree. This obligation applies to admissions for programmes leading to both a Bachelor's and a Master's degree, or to a Bachelor’s degree only and to admissions provided by a university for programmes leading to a Master's degree excluding a Bachelor's degree.

2. It is, however, not necessary to reserve student places in the manner referred to in subsection 1 when selecting students for a programme offered in a foreign language or for a programme where the number of admissions is so small that reserving places would generate unreasonable inequalities between applicants.

3. A university may reserve some student places for applicants referred to in subsection 1 also in the case of separate admissions.

4. Universities must also reserve reasonable opportunities for admission for those who have completed a university degree or accepted a student place. Universities must ensure that no unreasonably large discrepancies exist between the opportunities of individuals belonging to different applicant categories to gain admission in terms of the equitable treatment of all applicants. The assessment of reasonability takes into account the following factors: the ratio of the applicants of different applicant categories to the overall number of applicants; the opportunities to gain admission through routes other than the joint application procedure; and other equivalent factors.

Section 37. Eligibility for studies leading to a higher education degree and for professional specialisation programmes (Amendment 1172/2014)

1. Eligible applicants for studies leading to a Bachelor’s degree only or to both a Bachelor’s and a Master’s degree have
   (1) passed the examination referred to in the National Matriculation Examination Act (672/2005);
   (2) been awarded a vocational upper secondary qualification after completing studies of at least three years' duration or the equivalent prior studies;

However, a person whose state of health or functional capacity makes him or her incapable of performing the practical tasks or practical training included in the studies in a way consistent with the study-related safety requirements referred to in section 43a and where the impediment cannot be removed with reasonable measures shall not be admitted as a student.

2. In the case of studies referred to in section 43a, admission is precluded where a decision has been made to revoke the right to study under section 32 of the Vocational Education and Training Act (630/1998), under section 11(9) of the Adult Vocational Education and Training Act, under section 25a of the Polytechnics Act (351/2003) or under section 43a of this Act where considerations relating to the protection of the health and safety of other persons so require.

   (1) three academic years in studies leading to the degree of Licentiate of Veterinary Medicine;

A student admitted to study only for a Master’s degree has the right to complete the degree in a time period exceeding the normative duration of studies by a maximum of two years.

3. Absences due to a service under the Conscription Act, the Non-Military Service Act or the Women’s Voluntary Military Service Act, or to maternity, paternity or parental leave are excluded from the normative duration of studies. Similarly, periods of absence up to a maximum of two academic terms are excluded from the normative duration of studies when the student is registered for the absence in accordance with section 39. (Amendment 324/2015)

4. Students are considered to have begun their degree studies as of the date they accepted a student place at university.
5. A transfer student’s right to complete degree studies is determined on the basis of the degree for which the student was given the right to complete a degree with the transfer. The time that the student, whether registered for attendance or non-attendance, has spent pursuing the studies on which the transfer is based is counted towards the normative duration of studies. However, for such attending or non-attending students who began their degree studies prior to the 2005–2006 academic year, the time spent pursuing the studies on which the transfer is based are not counted towards the normative duration of who has not finished his or her studies within the time period referred to in section 41 provided that the student presents a goal-oriented and feasible plan for completing the studies. In the plan, the student must detail the studies to be completed and the timetable for completing the degree.

2. The duration of studies is extended if it is possible for the student, in consideration of the number and scope of completed and valid studies as well as the lacking studies and any prior decisions on extending their duration, to complete his or her studies in a reasonable period of time. When granting as extension to the duration of studies, the university shall consider the life situation of the student.

Section 43. Forfeiture of the right to study

Students who have not enrolled and registered in the manner specified in section 39, or who fail to complete their studies within the time period specified in section 41 or within the extended period of time specified in section 42, as well as students who have not been granted an extension to their studies, forfeit their right to study. Should the student later wish to start or resume his or her studies, he or she must reapply to the university for admission. The application can be made without participation in the admissions procedure referred to in section 36.

2. If a transfer student accepts a new right to study, he or she forfeits the earlier right to study on which the transfer was based. (Amendment 256/2015)

   (2) It is evident that the student does not fulfil the prerequisites for admission referred to in section 37a(1) in regard of his or her state of health or functional capacity; or
   (3) At the application stage, the student has concealed a decision to revoke the right to study referred to in section 37a(2) which could have prevented his or her admission as a student.

2. Where the studies or practical training relating to studies substantially require work with minors, the university may revoke the right to study where necessary in order to protect the minors, or if the student has been sentenced for a crime referred to in the Criminal Code, Chapter 17, section 18, 18a or 19, in Chapter 20, in Chapter 21, section 1–3 or 6, in Chapter 31, section 2, or in Chapter 50, section 1, 2, 3, 4 or 4a.

3. Before revoking the right to study, the university, together with the student, must explore the student's possibilities to apply for some other form of education. With his or her consent, the student may be transferred to other studies in the university where he or she fulfils the admission prerequisites.

The university shall defray the cost of the examinations it orders.
2. Provisions on confidentiality notwithstanding, the university has the right, for the purpose of assessing the right to study, to obtain from a university-designated physician authorised to practice medicine independently, a written statement indicating that the student underwent an examination to ascertain his or her state of health and an assessment of the student's functional capacity with respect to the demands placed on his or her health due to studies.
3. Provisions on confidentiality notwithstanding, the university has the right to obtain information from other universities, universities of applied sciences and other education providers about any decision, including its justifications, to revoke an applicant's right to study where it is deemed necessary for assessing the right to study.
4. At the request of the university, the student must provide an extract of any and all entries about him or her in the criminal records referred to in section 6(3) of the Criminal Records Act (770/1993) for the purpose of an assessment of the right to study, as referred to in section 43a (2), if the student is given assignments in studies or in practical training relating to the studies which substantially require working with minors.
5. Provisions on confidentiality notwithstanding, the university has the right to obtain information necessary for admission from another university concerning any pending process related to revocation of the right to study referred to in section 43a, when the student has applied to the university as a transfer student.
6. Provisions on confidentiality notwithstanding, the university is obligated to provide the National Supervisory Authority for Welfare and Health with information on any pending process related to revocation of the right to study referred to in section 43a and other decisions related to revocation of the right to study or to the transfer of the student to other studies and its justifications, when such information is necessary for the execution of the Authority's statutory duties.

   (1) seriously endangers the student's or some other person's life or health;
   (2) seriously endangers the protection or integrity of data protected by confidentiality provisions; or
   (3) significantly increases the risk of illicit trafficking or distribution of substances referred to in section 3(1)(5) of the Narcotics Act (373/2008) which are in the possession of the university or the place of training.

2. 'Drug test certificate' means a certificate by a registered healthcare professional attesting that the student has undergone a test to detect the presence or absence of a substance referred to in section 3(1)(5) of the Narcotics Act as well as a statement based on the test as to whether the student has used narcotics for purposes other than medical treatment in a way which undermines his or her functional capacity. The certificate must be presented within a reasonable time frame, which is determined by the university.

The student may, as determined by the university, have his or her knowledge and skills attested in some other manner and counted towards the degree or specialisation, or substitute studies in the degree requirements or specialisation programme with the knowledge and skills attested. (Amendment 1172/2014)

A student may be banned from attending teaching for a maximum of three days where there is a risk that the safety of another student or a person working in the university or some other teaching facility is threatened as a result of the student's threatening or violent behaviour or where the disruptive conduct of the student makes teaching and associated activities unduly difficult.

4. Where a student refuses to undergo the examinations for ascertaining his or her state of health referred to in section 43b(1), he or she may be banned from studies until he or she consents to undergo the necessary examinations. If a student refuses to provide an extract of entries on him or her in the criminal records as referred to in section 43b(4), he or she may be banned from studies until he or she consents to present the extract.

Section 45a. Procedure in disciplinary actions and matters regarding revocation of the right to study (Amendment 954 /2011)

On the part of the university, the agreement is signed by the chairperson of the board and the rector.

2. Where university-specific targets cannot be coordinated at the national level or according to the field of study, the Ministry of Education and Culture may, for the purpose of ensuring funding, decide on quantitative and qualitative targets for an individual university to the extent that the targets form part of the criteria for the financial resources allocated to the university.
